Report Break In Stalemate At Peace Talks

Communists Offer Compromise Over Troop Withdrawal

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The Communists were reported today to have offered a compromise in the Korean cease-fire talks under which withdrawal of foreign troops would not be discussed until after an armistice.

Indications are that this proposal will prove acceptable to the United Nations command.

The Reds heretofore have insisted that the issue of pulling foreign troops out—U.N. forces and Chinese Reds—should be on the program of armistice talks.

Secretary of Defense Marshall, laying down the U.N. position, said yesterday the question is not a suitable one for consideration in the armistice negotiations.

Promises Understanding Responsible information here is that under the new Communist offer the most the U.N. Allies would have to undertake is a promise to discuss arrangements under which the whole foreign troops problem would be taken up later.

This probably means that out of the armistice talks, or perhaps parallel with them, some understanding will be reached for negotiations to be held among interested governments on the political issues of a permanent Korean settlement.

Called "Reasonable" The Communist proposition had been described by U.N. spokesmen in Korea as "as reasonable in content and phraseology" and "sufficiently interesting" for the allied delegates to have proposed a long overnight recess for further study.

The essence of the compromise as understood by authorities here is that the troop withdrawal matter would no longer be a part of the Communist price for a truce.

However, even assuming that this understanding clears the way for the Kaesong talks to go forward promptly, at least two other serious issues are said to remain.

BULLETIN!

Three runaway freight cars which attained a speed estimated at 50 miles an hour crashed into a truck here at 1:35 p.m. today, hurling it through the air and into a building.

The cars which became disconnected from a freight engine at the Chicago and North Western depot rolled toward town at a high rate of speed with the switch engine hot in pursuit.

The caboose hit the right front of the truck parked at the Public Service company sub-station, hurling it through the air and against the brick wall of the power plant. The rear wheels of the truck landed on a stairway. Walter Weiser, Public Service company employee, was entering the truck when he saw the cars coming and jumped clear.

Merrick, Pires Backer, Says He Will Stay as Probation Officer

The question of who is probation officer for the Lee county circuit court still is up in the air.

The former probation officer, Edwin W. Merrick, openly supported the losing candidate, State's Attorney Pires. Following the election of Judge Bracken, Merrick tendered his resignation effective July 1.

However, today, Judge Bracken received a letter from Merrick announcing that he wants to withdraw his resignation. Whether his resignation ever was official since no definite action was taken and no new probation officer appointed and whether the withdrawal of the resignation is equally official will have to be answered.

When asked about the change in heart, Merrick said: "It is commonly known that I supported Pires in the election, so I thought I'd give the new judge a chance to name his own probation officer. No action was taken. I was appointed by Judge Dixon July 1, 1945 and submitted my resignation effective July 1, this year."

Council Purchases 33-Acre Dumping Site

Pays $700 an Acre for Land South of City

Vote for Drive-in Restaurant Near Swimming Pool

After nearly two years of listening to protests from residents in the area of the city dump, Dixon city council members last night voted to buy a new dump site just south of Dixon on Rt. 26.

Price of the 33.11-acre tract is $23,500 of which $7,500 will be paid annually and $8,000 for two consecutive years at four per cent interest. Owner of the land now is Otto Ventler. Payments will be completed before July 15, 1953, and the city will take possession by Aug. 10, 1951.

Commissioners J. E. Vaile and George Lindquist registered "no" votes last night to an amendment to the city zoning ordinance which would allow establishment of a drive-in restaurant near the city swimming pool.

Sees Competition Erwin Bolton filed the petition for rezoning June 26 on lots one through six of block 10 in the West End Addition. When the petition was presented Vaile stated that he did not think it was fair to allow competition with the swimming pool concession.

The two commissioners also voted "no" to rezoning a square block bounded by Third street, Custer avenue, Clark street and Sheridan avenue. The owners wanted to build a garage and filling station on the lot which borders Fourth street at the city limits.

Held Hearing The report on rezoning the two tracts was submitted by a committee which held a public hearing on the question July 17. No protests were registered to the zoning. Members of the committee were Walter Zink, Roy Webb and Fred Osterheld.

Lawrence Boos and A. H. Warren were given permission to pay for installation of 110 feet of sanitary sewer adjoining their property. The property is on Pine street extending south from Ottawa avenue. After completion, the sewer main will be turned over to the city.

The jet field now is being built as part of the navy base at Pensacola and is to be dedicated in the near future.

Lee County Red Cross Opens Drive to Aid Flood Victims In Devastated 4-State Area

The Dixon Evening Telegraph today threw its support to the Lee County Red Cross chapter's emergency fund drive to aid victims of the disastrous flood in the Kansas City area.

This newspaper will join banks and other such institutions throughout the county in serving as a depository for funds contributed by residents in the county desiring to aid the flood victims.

August Wimpleberg, Dixon, the county chapter's disaster committee chairman, said that the Red Cross will attempt to raise $1,500, Lee county's share of a $5,000,000 national disaster fund quota.

Thirty per cent of the money will be used for emergency purposes while the remaining 70 per cent will be devoted to rehabilitating homes and farms destroyed by the rampaging waters of the Missouri, Kansas and Mississippi rivers.

The flood, Wimpleberg pointed out, was the most devastating in the nation's history. One billion dollars was the estimate of the damage caused in a four-state area.

He appealed to local residents to contribute to the fund as a means of aiding a fellow American in distress. Funds he said will go toward aiding victims in Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and Southern Illinois.

"The work of the Red Cross is world-wide," Wimpleberg said, "but here is definitely a time when Americans can go to the aid of Americans."

Checks or money-orders can be made out to "Emergency Flood Relief, Lee County Red Cross" and sent to The Evening Telegraph, to the Lee county Red Cross chapter offices in Dixon, or to the banks in your vicinity.

All contributions will be acknowledged by this newspaper.

the points in a game with Niagara university in Toledo on Dec. 14, 1950.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan charged the three—William Walker of Toledo, Robert McDonald of New York and Carlo Muzi of Akron—kept the winning margin to only three points, 73-70, Toledo, unbeaten at the time, won its seventh straight by beating Niagara.

Hogan said that Eli Kaye, New York suspect who is under $50,000 bail in the alleged bribing of New York college players, sent $1,750 to Walker as a payoff for winning by only three points, although Toledo had a 17-point lead just three minutes before the end of the game.

The district attorney said Walker gave $250 each to Muzi and McDonald and kept the remainder.

Farmers Trade Tractors for Plane in Survey

Child Hit by Car Reported Recovering

Robert Michael Brainerd, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brainerd, 82 Monroe av., is reported in "apparently good" condition today at KSB hospital where the boy was taken Tuesday evening after being struck by a car.

The child sustained possible internal and head and neck injuries. X-ray pictures were taken this morning to determine the full extent of the injuries.

The child was struck by an auto driven by Louis C. Bowen, 26, of 906 W. First st. when the boy darted from behind a parked car into the path of the Bowen auto 150 feet west of Madison avenue on W. First street at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The police report states that Bowen was able to stop but knocked the child down. He then took the youth to the hospital. Witnesses said that Bowen was driving slowly at the time of the accident. The child reportedly was playing near his home at the time.

Soil Conservation 'Air Lift' Provides Local Area Farmers Aerial View of Good Practices

By STAN KOESTER
Telegraph Staff Writer

Russell Schumacher, Rt. 4, Dixon, squinted against the glare of the afternoon sun and looked down at the green and gold mosaic of his farm below the starboard wing of the trim little monoplane.

The thrill that Schumacher felt then was shared Tuesday by at least 35 other Lee county farmers and members of their families on the "conservation air lift" sponsored by the Lee county soil conservation district.

Reinhart Schnell, Dixon airport manager, and Dr. E. T. Anderson, local veterinarian, were the pilots for the air lift tours. The course flown by Schnell and Dr. Anderson covered an estimated 30 miles of verdant Lee county farmland.

The heavy green wavy lines of corn growing amidst legumes in good examples of contour farming were seen throughout the county. Toy-sized tractors tilled the fields beneath the fuselage of the air lift plane and lilliputian trucks sped along the highways hauling produce to market.

Many of the farmers who took the trips Tuesday were able to see their own farms from an average altitude of 1,300 feet while skimming along at 120 miles an hour. Despite the speed a full view of each field was offered.

Fly at Cost Cooperating with the conservation service, Schnell sold the air trips to interested farmers at cost. Many traveled in family groups during the morning flights. Harold Shaeffer, Rt. 1, Dixon, took his wife and child along. A. S. B. Miller, Franklin Grove, Glenn Albrecht, Amboy, and A. E. Meyer, Amboy, each took a son along on the trip. John Ankney, Rt. 3, Dixon, loaded his three small sons under the safety belts in the rear seat and treated them to the trip. Thoroughly impressed with the trip, Ankney went home and returned with his wife who also took a flight. George Morris, Dixon, and Loren Hoge, Walnut, also took their sons aloft. Each plane carried four passengers.

Describe Route The trip to view soil conservation practices began at the airport and continued northeast to section 18, Nachusa township, then swung southeast to section 32, Nachusa township.

The planes then bore due south

Local Youth Identifies Freeport Man

Ex-Convict Seized In Stockton for Another Burglary

STOCKTON — A 14-year-old Dixon boy last night identified a man held by officers here for burglary as the man who committed six daylight breakins in Dixon and Polo July 15.

The prisoner, Russell Squires, 25, Freeport, admitted committing the burglaries under questioning by Sheriff Charles H. Redebaugh and Police Chief Frank Tyne.

Leo Fredericks, son of Mrs. E. H. Ferris, 324 Central Pl., made immediate and certain identification as soon as he saw the prisoner at the jail here, Sheriff Redebaugh said today. Squires ordered the boy to stand by as he broke into the Family Liquor store in Dixon then gave the youth $7.55 to "keep your mouth shut."

Squires was arrested here late Tuesday evening as a suspect in the $35 burglary of Stockton cleaning establishment earlier in the evening. Squires admitted taking the money from the cash register after jimmying a window, Sheriff Redebaugh said.

Radio Description The local connection came when state police broadcast a description of the man arrested in Stockton. They said he had a pair of gloves stuck in his belt and carried a small cinch bag. Chief Tyne immediately connected him with the description of the burglar here. He contacted Redebaugh and they picked up the Frederick youth. Armed with a warrant, they drove to Stockton where the boy identified Squires.

Ogle County Sheriff James White also questioned the prisoner concerning two burglaries the same day in Polo. Squires admitted the breakins to Redebaugh and Tyne.

Squires is being held in the Jo Davies county jail at Galena for the Stockton burglary while a detainer from Lee county has been filed against him. Squires has a "long record," according to Redebaugh, and has been on parole since last December. Besides the Polo, Dixon and Stockton burglaries, he admitted a long series of other crimes since his release from prison, Redebaugh stated.

Got $305 Here Squires got away with $305.80 from the six daylight burglaries in Dixon and Polo. He entered the Family Liquor store on W. First st.; Pete's restaurant, 83 Hennepin av.; the Roundup tavern, 212 First st., and the Sportsman Tap, 111 N. Galena av. An unsuccessful attempt was made to enter the Royal Palms tavern, 83 Galena av. Nothing was taken at the Sportsman's tap since the burglar broke into the locked basement. At the Royal Palms the burglar was frightened away.

In Polo he entered the Polo Pool hall and the East End restaurant. All burglaries occurred in daylight on a Sunday afternoon. The Dixon breakins occurred between 5 and 6 p.m. with the Polo burglaries clocked shortly thereafter.

Crashes Gas Truck, Driver Dies in Flames

KANKAKEE, (AP)—One man was killed yesterday when he was trapped in the blazing wreckage of his dump truck which collided with a loaded gasoline truck.

The collision touched off a fire which could be seen in Kankakee, five miles away. The accident occurred on U.S. Highway 54, north of Kankakee.

Dead was John Wheeler, 72, of Momence, Ill., a Ganeer township highway employee. The gasoline truck driver, Russell Phillips, 25, of Belleville, suffered cuts and bruises. Soren Jacobsen, about 65, also of Momence, was burned about the arms and face. Jacobsen was riding in the dump truck.

State police said the gas truck was southbound on Rt. 64 en route to the Scott air force base near Belleville, when it tried to pass the dump truck loaded with gravel from a nearby quarry.

Police said Phillips told them his gasoline truck trailer sideswiped the dump truck, spun the dump truck around, and it burst into flame from gasoline splashed over it.

The gasoline truck careened 500 yards down the road and plunged into a ditch, where it burned. Phillips jumped from the gas truck as Jacobsen staggered from the dump truck. Wheeler was pinned in the cab.

Food Processors Count on High Earnings to Keep Sales Volume Of Grocery Stores at High Level

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK, (AP)—Bumper harvests are in prospect in many parts of the country. But food processors are counting on the rising total of personal incomes to keep sales volume high in the nation's grocery stores this winter.

Americans like to eat well. The better their incomes the more they spend, a rule, at the grocery. Housewives swing up and down the food economy scale as their husbands' take-home pay rises or falls.

Full employment and higher wage scales, the food processors say, should take care of the new big crops, although a few see hopes that abundance may mean that prices can drop nearer to the pre-Korean level.

35 Billion Rate
Retail grocery sales are now reported running at an annual rate of around $35 billion. Even price resistance to some more expensive items hasn't cut total purchases of consumers back much this summer, spokesmen for the grocery trade say. The large retail units report dollar volume running about seven per cent above last year, largely reflecting post-Korean price rises.

Grocers are selling to so many more families with annual incomes over $3,000 that there has been an unexpected increase in demands for better quality foods in wider variety, the American Institute of Food Distribution holds.

Statistics Prove It
Federal statistics would seem to bear this out, both as to how incomes have grown and widened out through the economy, and as to how Americans spend their money in the grocery.

Ten years ago 5.8 million families had annual incomes of more than $3,000, but today 27 million families have. Even taking into account the higher prices, this still leaves a large total income to be spent at the grocery.

Federal reserve board figures show how family food buying increases as incomes go up.

More Earned, More Spent
For every dollar that the family with the $1,000 or less income spends, a family in the $3,000 to $4,000 class spends $1.90. While families with incomes of $7,500 and over spend $2.63 at the grocer's for each $1 the lowest group spends. Only 17 per cent of the highest group's income goes for food, however.

Rise in industrial pay scales has played a major role in making America as a whole eat better.

Ban Mecca Trip

CAIRO, EGYPT, (AP)—The newspaper Al Misri said today that Egypt will ban her Moslems from making the annual pilgrimage to Mecca because of reports of bubonic plague in Yemen and Saudi Arabia.

The paper said that 90 deaths from plague had been reported from Saudi Arabia and that another 200 cases of the disease were reported in Yemen, on the southwest tip of the Arabian peninsula.

Dissension on University of Illinois Faculty Erupts Again

CHAMPAIGN—(AP)—Dissension within the University of Illinois economics department erupted again yesterday with the disclosure that the chairman and seven other faculty members have resigned.

The action came after more than a year of continual friction in the university's college of commerce. It also came on the eve of a meeting of the university's board of trustees to consider the faculty row.

The latest to resign was Everett E. Hagen, chairman of the economics department. He submitted his resignation July 6, but the letter was not made public until yesterday.

The trustees tomorrow will consider a report of an advisory committee of 20 Illinois businessmen. The report rejected President George D. Stoddard's proposal that the commerce college be divided into four parts.

Hudelson became acting dean last Dec. 28, when Howard R. Bowen offered to resign as dean of the college of commerce.

Criticism of Bowen developed after Prof. Ralph Blodgett resigned from the faculty. A co-faculty member charged that Blodgett was forced out because his economic views were too conservative for Hagen and Bowen.

Quality Unharmful
Prof. P. M. Arsdell, vice chairman of the department of economics, said the resignations spread over seven months "will not affect the quality of the educational program of the department."

He said five of the eight who resigned are junior members and that none of the senior professors responsible for basic courses has left. He added that Hagen's duties

Doctors' Earnings In 1949 Averaged A Yearly $11,058

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Physicians in private practice in this country in 1949 had average net income before taxes of $11,058, and those in big cities didn't make as much as those in medium size communities.

These findings were reported yesterday, on the basis of a mail survey of 55,000 physicians, by the department of commerce and the American Medical Association. The association, which conducted the study jointly with the department, called the study the best ever made of income in the profession.

The $11,058 for the entire profession included salaried and independent physicians, but not interns, resident physicians and teachers.

Other findings: Neurologists had the highest net average income, $28,628; 13 per cent of those in private practice had net incomes under $3,000 and eight per cent earned more than $25,000 net before taxes.

STAY HOME, HARRY

Chicago.—I note again in this morning's paper that the President is flying over the flood areas of Kansas City and then to his home to vote on some bond issues.

The President sets an excellent example to the people in this, but he could have saved my income tax for the next 100 years—if I live that long—in asking for an absentee ballot and staying in Washington. Every time his plane leaves the ground or his yacht pulls up anchor, I feel that I have to get down to the office an hour earlier so that I can get more business and make more profit so that I can pay enough more income taxes to help pay his expenses.

He Looked... and Lo! An Angel...!

Last week an employee of The Telegraph saw an angel. Gail Ogan, 416 Becker street, was talking to Mrs. Ethel Buckner, staff photographer, when he noticed a face on the ceiling of the photography laboratory.

Gail, Darwin Slain, 81 Lincoln avenue, and Larry Lund, 844 N. Dixon avenue, had been washing the walls and ceiling of the laboratory.

Gail quickly grabbed a pail of soapy water and began washing in the area where he saw the face. After a few minutes work, it became apparent that an angel had been painted on the ceiling many years before.

Later that day a second angel was discovered as the remainder of the ceiling was washed. These two angels had been hidden for many years under many coats of paint.

After successive trips by Telegraph staff members to see the angels, everyone wondered how they got there in the first place.

It soon developed that the angels plus decorative leaves and vines had been painted on the ceiling by Edgar A. Patrick, father of Miss Frances Patrick, secretary of the chamber of commerce, many years ago.

Was in Living Room

At the time the angels were painted on the ceiling, the room was not a photographic laboratory nor even a part of The Telegraph plant. It was the dining room of an apartment owned by Chris Kelly. Kelly owned a drugstore downstairs where the advertising and editorial offices of the newspaper are now located.

Kelly apparently liked a feeling of bliss and serenity while he ate his meals, as the angels gave a peaceful aura to the room.

Soil conservation districts are non-profit organizations working to safeguard land and to promote better living through soil conservation for the local community, state and nation.

Bank Robber Added to FBI 'Wanted' List

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A 22-year-old gunman wanted for bank robbery was added by the FBI today to its list of 10 top fugitives.

He is Ollie Gene Embry, also known as Gene Craig, a native of Harrisburg, Ark., who has been in trouble with the police since he was 15. He is now sought for the daylight holdup of the Monroe National bank at Columbia, Ill., last Feb. 6.

Four men are believed to have had a hand in that robbery, fleeing with nearly $9,000 in cash. Three have been arrested and have pleaded guilty. The FBI named Embry as the fourth.

Embry is described as a personable young man of relatively high intelligence, usually presenting a good appearance. A non-drinker, he is reported to be a user of a stimulating drug.

About six feet tall and of medium-slender build, he has a distinctive cut scar between the lower lip and the point of his chin.

The bureau, urging extreme caution in attempting his capture, said he is known to carry guns in both hip and shoulder holsters.

Lt. Gov. Dixon Praises Record Of Gov. Stevenson in Legislature

SALEM, (AP)—Le. Gov. Sherwood Dixon today lauded Gov. Stevenson as "an example of intelligent action, honesty and simplicity in government, and complete devotion to duty."

Dixon praised his chief in a speech prepared for Democratic day at a week-long reunion of former soldiers and sailors. Stevenson, like the lieutenant governor, is a Democrat.

Dixon pictured the governor as a "skillful negotiator" who put over more of his program in the Republican controlled 1951 legislature than most chief executives have been able to do with an assembly dominated by members of their own party.

"He has done this because he was right," Dixon said.

Had To Go Along

"He has been so right that, when the measures he advocated were explained to and understood by the public even those legislators who were unfriendly to him had to go along with most of his program or answer to the voters."

The lieutenant governor said enactment of administration-backed bills increasing truck license fees and raising the state gasoline tax added up to a "tremendous accomplishment."

Under them, he said, the state highway system ultimately can be rebuilt, and with a fairer method of distributing the cost.

Dixon said the foundation for much of the administration's success was laid with presentation of a budget "the like of which never has been seen in Illinois."

The budget message "left our Republican brethren bewildered, with no place to stand and nothing to criticize," he said.

He mentioned provision for a $24,000,000 increase in state school aid, a 10 per cent salary rise for state employees and other added sums for praiseworthy purposes.

These were included in the budget while its total amount was held under 1949-51 spending, he said, notwithstanding inflation.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Whoever is a hypocrite in his religion mocks God, presenting to Him the outside and reserving the inward for his enemy.—Jeremy Taylor.

If West Is Wise, It Won't Try To Boycott Iran's Oil

At some earlier stage, it might have been possible to settle the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute in a way satisfactory to both sides. But W. Averell Harriman, President Truman's special envoy to Tehran, is learning that kind of settlement is no longer likely.

The Iranians have indeed agreed to resume talks with the British, but only on the understanding there will be no back-down on nationalizing the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. Ill will against Britain runs so deep that Iran is almost prepared to risk economic suicide to oust the company.

The atmosphere is genuinely hysterical. Moderate men are prisoners of the nation's anti-British extremists. Reason has little chance against the emotional tide.

Some American correspondents there feel the British don't realize how grim their prospects are. The time has passed when the Iranians would listen to better money offers for their oil, or anything similar. They don't even want U. S. economic aid if the price is yielding to Britain.

The only question now is this: What can be salvaged, if anything, from a situation governed by Iran's immovable insistence on nationalizing its oil.

The Iranians themselves have abandoned their original hopes that British technicians would stay and work for a national oil company. This means that, barring the unforeseen, all British contact with Iranian production will end.

Where, then, will the Iranians find the men to produce the oil? Given enough time—several years—they undoubtedly can develop their own technicians. But it is difficult to imagine they will be able to maintain high level output in the meantime, unless they should accept help from Russia or its satellites.

The Iranian leaders certainly recognize the risk of letting the bars down to the Russians in any way. But oil is the chief support of the Iranian economy, and in desperation the Iranian government might take Russian aid in preference to suicide.

In the light of this outlook, the British might have some sober second thoughts about denying all technical aid to Iran.

No matter how it is produced, there remains the question of where the oil will be sold. Up to now the West has provided the principal market, with Europe taking most. The Iranians do not believe these countries will boycott their oil. Indeed, they are convinced that even if they wished to do so, they would be compelled ultimately by world supply conditions to buy it anyway.

The West is no longer as gloomy as it originally was over possible loss of Iranian supplies. It has decided ample stocks of crude oil are available to make up any deficiency and that reserve refinery capacity can be brought into play.

If Iranian output falls off, the West will have no choice but to take up the slack elsewhere. The matter of a boycott of all Iranian oil is something else. Who would be served?

The West surely can use the oil. Reliance on other sources simply cuts down the safe margin of valuable reserves—a critical factor in war. And if we don't take it, the Communists may, even if it requires many years to build the facilities to get it out of Iran.

What it comes to, in other words, is how far we wish to penalize Iran for what we may regard as unfair, irrational behavior in violation of international law. We must be on guard not to penalize ourselves, and the whole cause of freedom.

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, (NEA)—Guys and Dolls: "I believe in marriage and I'm doing everything to make it work."

Brave, noble words from Arlene Dahl, who's a tell-me-not-in-mournful-numbers gal about husbands.

The "Three Little Words" beauty gave three little reasons for asking for and getting her release from MGM shortly after her hitching to Lex Barker.

"When actors are under contract to different studios, it's death on marriage. I'd be on location in Florida and Lex would be in Africa or Iceland. It's up to the woman to get out of her obligations so she can be with her husband, wherever he's sent."

"I had asked for my release from MGM for over a year. I was very unhappy when they wouldn't let me play Roxanne in 'Cyrano.' And after 'Three Little Words,' I wanted to do musicals. But it was hopeless. They have Jane Powell, Kathryn Grayson, Esther Williams and other stars who have been there longer. How many musicals can a studio make, anyhow?"

HE GREW UP—

Maybe he won't get to clasp Claudette Colbert in his arms for a couple of years yet, but Johnny Sands, first of the profiles to be placed under contract by Walter Wanger in his Monogram tie-up, is reciting "Today I am a man."

"I don't look like a juvenile anymore," Johnny told me on the set of Jack Broder's "The Basketball Fix." "I'm a leading man at last, not a jerk."

It was as Shirley Temple's boyish flame in "The Bachelor and the Bobby Soxer" that Johnny excited the lasses in sweaters and saddle shoes. But his stock tumbled when casting directors gave him the "You're too young" verdict.

"I knew Shirley awfully well," he said. "She doesn't care about a movie career. After all, she's got three million bucks. But Shirley Temple still has greatness in her."

"Errol's telling me to slow down," Patrice Wymore, the first Mrs. Flynn to stab at movie stardom, talking on the set of Warner's "Starlift."

"Errol approves of my career," sweet-faced Pat assured me, "but for a while he accused me of being lazy and told me I should spend more time working on my dancing and acting. Now I'm overwhelming him with work."

There's no career conflict, as far as she's concerned, because she's got an Errol's-the-actor-in-the-family attitude.

"Every time people say Flynn, they think of him with swords and horses. He's a better actor than people think."

A still photographer rushed up to Pat and said that the studio needed bathing suit shots. Did she happen to have something brief and suitable?

"I've got a Bikini bathing suit, but you're not going to shoot me in that," Patrice Wymore Flynn screamed.

They're yelling "Comedy find" over at RKO about Sheldon Leonard's antics in "Behave Yourself" and Sheldon's mouth is still hanging open.

A funny man until he hit Hollywood, he's been trying to convince producers that he's a better bet as rib-ticker than a menace.

"MGM put me in one of the 'Thin Man' pictures as a psychopathic killer," he related it. "They thought they were doing me a favor and billed me in the trailer as 'a startling new sinister personality.' They did too good a selling job. Hollywood never let me go back to comedy."

Sheldon's a heavy again in "Come Fill the Cup" but he sees gags and clowning ahead, and thinks his "tont" character on the Jack Benny radio show helped. "Benny," said Sheldon, "is the king as far as recognition of comedy talent goes. Hollywood could learn from him."

WHAT A LATIN

"I don't want to play Latins all my life," wailed peppy, gorgeous, super-built Charlita. "Darn it, I was born in Lowell, Mass."

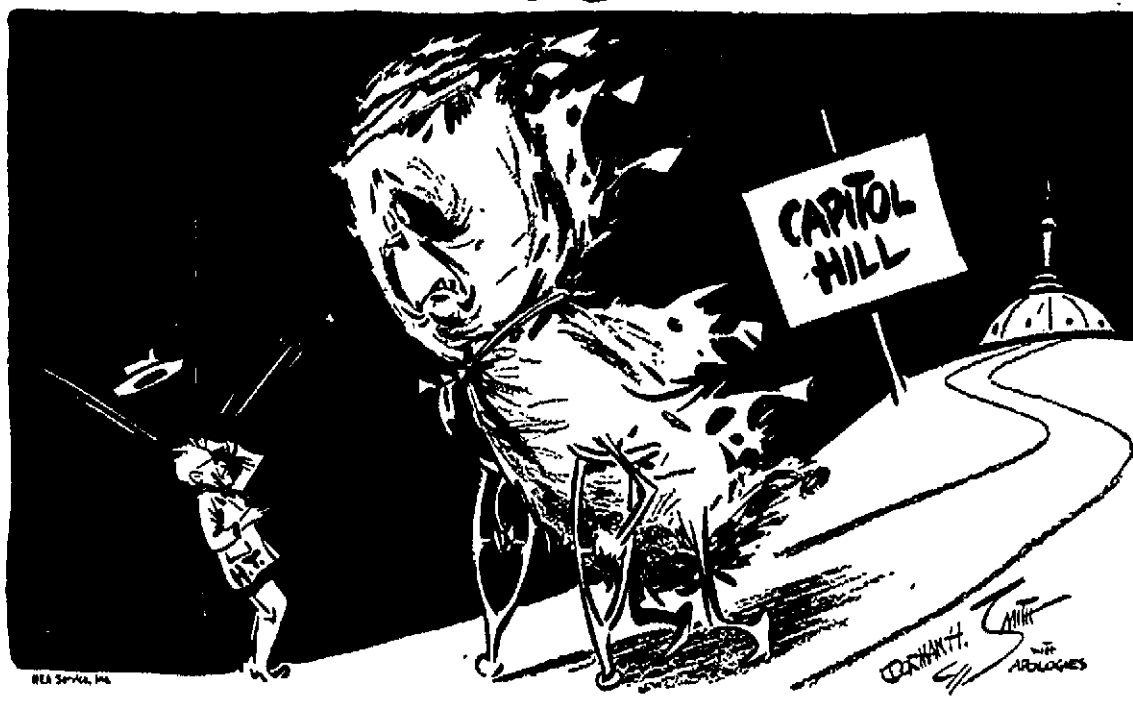

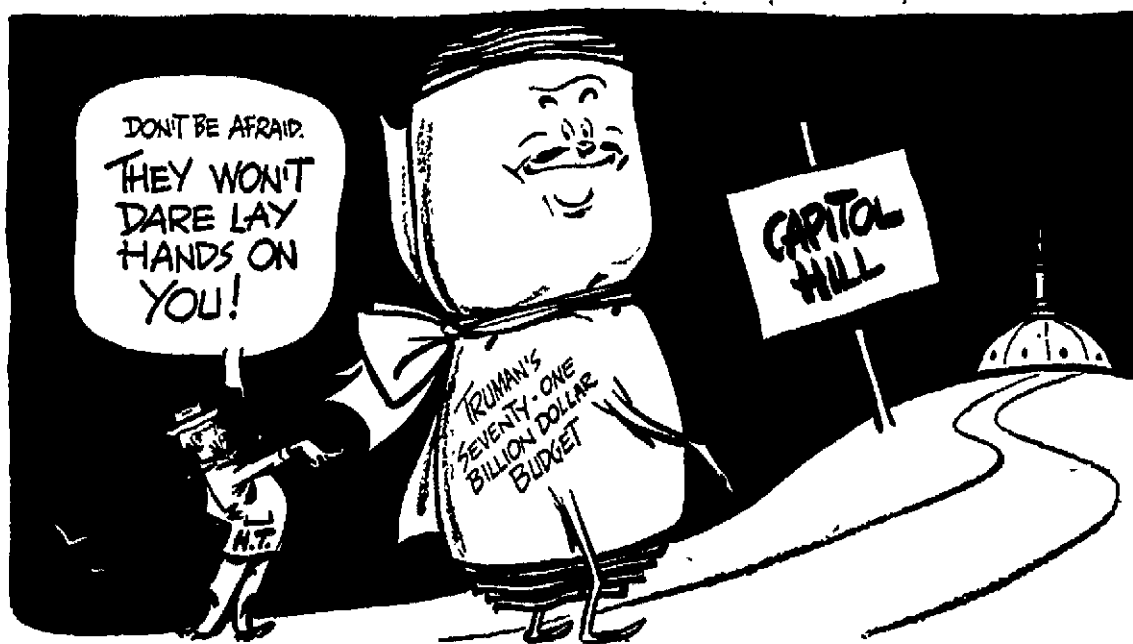

Charlita's olive-skinned, hot-eyed and exotically-profiled all the way down but there's more baked bean than tamale under her noggin.

Little more than a bit in "The Brave Bulls" started her movie career perking and now she's top-meat roles in "Ten Tall Men" and "Callaway Went Thataway" with a plum part in Warner's "Come Fill the Cup."

"I was in 'Let's Go Navy' with Leo Gorcey and Huntz Hall, too," laughed Charlita. "They kept looking at me cross-eyed while I did a hula number. I was in stitches."

The "industrious" wife praised in that pamphlet written in 1878. There are a lot like her, but today when a young man marries one it is usually just by chance. Men don't look for industry today. They look for glamor—and if they get industry, too, they're just lucky.

Jacoby on Bridge Make Jump Bid With Strong Suit

By OSWALD JACOBY

South's bidding will interest those who have heard "an immediate jump take out must show a fit in the opener's suit." This is not really true. It is perfectly proper to make a jump bid with a very strong suit of your own; or with such great general strength that the final bid may be in no-trump.

In today's hand South's spades were good enough for a jump bid, even though support for diamonds was lacking. When North promptly raised Spades, South was sure he wanted to be in a small slam and had a brief vision of a possible grand slam.

To find out, South bid four no-trump—using the Blackwood Convention. North's response of five diamonds showed that he held exactly one ace. (As most players know, a response of five clubs shows no ace, five hearts shows two aces, and so on.)

The response told South that he had to lose one trick to an ace. Hence he contented himself with a small slam. Even this took careful play.

West opened the jack of clubs, and South won in his own hand with the ace. The only problem was to limit the loss in hearts to one trick. This could be done if one long diamond could be brought in; otherwise it would be possible to lead a heart from dummy in the hope that East had the ace.

Fortunately for South the diamonds were not too badly divided. Declarer first drew two rounds of trumps then cashed the top diamonds and ruffed a diamond. He re-entered dummy with a trump to ruff another diamond.

This cleared the suit, setting up dummy's last diamond. Now declarer got to dummy with a club to discard a heart on the established jack of diamonds. This accomplished, South could cheer-

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

West Brooklyn
July 20, 1951

The Editor
Dixon Evening Telegraph
Dear Sir:

I wonder if you business men who have joined the (name of Dixon firm deleted) realize the enemies they are making for you among your former customers.

On the 18th we received a bill from them at about noon when the mail arrives at our farm. On this it says, "Contact us at once either by personal call, telephone or letter." That evening when no letter from a rural area could possibly have reached their office, a representative was here, not to talk over any terms of settlement, but to threaten court action if the total bill was not paid the following day. Further, if you had a phone, the next morning you were threatened over the phone (where all others on your line can plainly hear) that if you did not come in immediately they would take further action. That same afternoon a constable appeared to serve a summons on you. This summons on amounts of only $25 carried $15 in costs.

No money order sent in from an area such as ours could have reached the office if mailed on the 19th (which is the first time mail is picked up after the first written notice was received) until the 20th.

Methods such as there merely arouse anger in people who intend to pay and would gladly have made settlement in whatever manner possible at the time.

Personally we will never again do business with the firm who engaged this particular firm to call for them. No one cares for such "Gestapo" methods in our free America.

Westbrook Pegler

Westbrook Advocates Death for Those Who Aided Communists But Were Not Reds Themselves

(Copyright, 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK, July 24—The Communist papers reject my proposal that persons not known to be members of their party deserve the death penalty for flagrant complicity in their conspiracy to destroy the United States and deliver this country into the power of Soviet Russia.

This would include a number of the most pernicious and conspicuous traitors of the Roosevelt reign. Some of them, of course, were members of the late Mahatma's domestic and executive households. I apprehend that some loyal Americans who never were Communists nor even new dealers will disagree, but for emotional rather than logical reasons.

We are so highly domesticated that we shrink from the infliction of death for punishment for the two capital crimes now standing on our books, first degree murder and forcible rape. I personally share this squeamishness which, in most of our states, implies a want of courage.

In my budding career as a journalist I have never yet been called upon to cover the grisly rites of an official killing and my reading of many moving descriptions done by colleagues always has left me wondering how they could write so well if drunk as our lore would have had them.

I will not say that I couldn't take it but I am glad that I never had it put to me to take it or do it. On one occasion I did decline, but that was a mere social invitation from the host in charge, not an order from the desk, and so, of course, the default doesn't count in the record.

As to the executions of the Rosenbergs, the traitors, wife and husband, who were condemned to the chair at Sing Sing prison for treason against the United States, I have no such delicacy. The crime has been palliated by editors, columnists, politicians and mischievous ideologues—at large who knew such conduct as hideous and vile beyond the power of our culture to imagine and had personal acquaintance with individuals who, in justice, deserved to be put to death.

The nature of treason and its implications need not be labored even though some of the apologists have persuaded themselves that all's well that ends well. The criminal clients of their generous concern didn't quite accomplish their whole purpose in consorting and conspiring with braver and more forthright enemies of the American people. They were not really determined traitors but confused idealists. Therefore, they should get no worse than treason, third degree, and probation.

There are conspicuous rogues now engaged in howling down Stalin, for profit, in print and on the air, who spread his propaganda both ways during the worst years.

They plugged his spokesmen as liberal leaders, suppressed information of treasonous conspiracies and hounded loyal Americans with vile abuse and suppressed their writings and throttled their voices.

John T. Flynn, was one of these victims, and Robert Stripling, the genius who actually broke the Alger Hiss case, was another.

The apologists for the "confused liberals" of this awful plot seem not to know how contemptible they make themselves in mewling that poverty and lack of opportunity make Communists and, in the next breath, defending a class of vermin who went to Harvard, never missed a meal and learned their treachery in soirées at the White House or amid the Long Island rich trash.

Without credible exception, they knew that Communism was a criminal conspiracy against their country which, to be successful, would have to be fatal to the Constitution and the liberties of all of us.

Many of them are lawyers learned in the precise meanings and the extensive implications of conspiracy. None of them had the excuse of persecution or denial, for even the Negroes among them are voluptuous rakes living on large incomes or the bounty of degenerate rich patrons. Most of them here took up this evil thing as an excuse for licentious living, knowing what Communism meant and what a price the American people would pay for their sensuality.

This is the class of rascals whom the rest of us are now asked to forgive on the plea that they didn't know but without any show of contrition or promise of reparation. To hell with them, from the master cell in the White House to the sorriest hack on those glossy New York weeklies which are always cleaning house but never quite get their delousing done.

These people were as guilty as the members of the party whose dirty work they were glad to do. If it is a capital crime to join a conspiracy against the United States it is no less a crime to give these criminals aid, comfort, prestige and political concealment and to do criminal works in furtherance of their conspiracy.

I understand and regret that the law, as presently interpreted, does not give promise of appropriate action, but, by fair extension and interpretation, these non-member accomplices deserve the maximum.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—Did John Howard Payne receive great financial benefits from his "Home Sweet Home"?

A—No. Payne received comparatively little for his work. This song was first sung in the Covent Garden Theater in London and made a big hit. Its publishers cleared $10,000 from it, not a penny of which was given to the author.

Q—What was West Virginia called before it was separated from Virginia?

A—The Trans-Alleghany Region of Virginia. It was admitted to the Union as a separate state in 1863.

The Doctor Says:

'Athlete's' Foot a Fungus Easier to Avoid Than Cure

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

"Athlete's foot" is not a disease of athletes alone nor is it confined to the foot. The same condition is also called ringworm—but it isn't caused by a worm nor does it often appear in the shape of a ring. Perhaps, then, you would rather call it by its correct name of dermatophytosis—or would you?

Anyway this disease is caused by fungi, which are considered to belong to the plant world. These fungi grow best in the damp and dark. They will last for some time on towels which are not dry or damp floors.

Hence there is more likely to be trouble with them in summer when more people use golf locker rooms and other athletic equipment. For the same reason infections are often spread at other times of the year in gymnasiums and indoor swimming pools.

The fungi do not thrive in the absence of moisture. For this reason if one wants to avoid infection the feet should be kept clean and dry, the socks and shoes dried and aired frequently, and towels should be completely dry and never shared.

A dusting powder consisting of 10 per cent boric acid in powdered talc to be used on the feet twice a day has also been recommended. This could be used in the groin too, especially by anyone who is more or less exposed.

Even with precautions, however, it seems unlikely that this disease will disappear. Usually it produces some itching, and scaling, cracking or some other peculiar appearance of the skin. Occasionally the symptoms can be really severe. On the other hand the symptoms can be so mild as to pass practically unnoticed and many have these fungi without being aware of what is wrong.

Beware of Self-Treatment

There are several good treatments for dermatophytosis. It is, however, somewhat risky to treat oneself. Some skin specialists have even told me that they had more trouble treating the skin of those who had worked on themselves than they did with the disease. A safe rule seems to be that one can try the foot powder mentioned for two weeks and if that does not do the job, help should be obtained.

It should also be remembered that dermatophytosis is difficult to cure. The fungi may lodge in the nails or other hard-to-get-at places. Also a person can reinfect himself by scratching, towels, still-infected socks or other clothing.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

RUTH MILLETT

Happy the Man Who Gets an Industrious Wife

Back in 1878 a pioneer adviser to the lovelorn, a physician interested in promoting happy marriages, wrote a pamphlet in which he counseled young men to look for "industry" in the girls they consider marrying.

A man with an industrious wife who did her own work and economized expenses, he pointed out, might be quite well-to-do at the end of 10 years of marriage. But the man with a wife who wasn't industrious and who had to hire everything done would in a few years find himself "poorer in money and far worse in hope than he was in the beginning."

As unromantic as it is, the doctor's advice is still good. It's still almost impossible for a young man married to an incompetent, lazy wife to get ahead. But a young man who marries an industrious girl can live beyond his means—in a good meaning of the term—because his wife makes every cent she spends count. Because she doesn't waste money hiring things done which she could do herself.

TAKE THE JONESES

The Joneses are a good example. They live well on a salary a wife less industrious than Mrs. Jones would find just enough to get by on.

The Jones children are well-dressed because Mrs. Jones makes their clothes, often out of hand-me-downs. It's her skill as a seamstress that makes it possible for them to have as nice clothes as they do.

The house is attractively furnished because Mrs. Jones has learned how to refinish old furniture, stitch up slip covers and curtains, and do other things other wives have to pay to have done.

They can afford to entertain when they want to because Mrs. Jones has a knack of being hospitable without knocking the budget completely out of kilter.

What's more, the family never hires anything done that some member can do or learn how to do. Mrs. Jones is a 1950 version of

Joan Morrissey Saturday Bride Of Chicago Man

White slipper satin fashioned the gown worn by Miss Joan Morrissey, daughter of the E. C. Morrisseys, Amboy, for her wedding to Michael Hagaman, Saturday morning, July 21. Michael's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hagaman, 4520 North Clarendon avenue, Chicago.

Assorted gladioli on the altars and large green palms on either side of the large altar, decorated St. Mary's Catholic church, Walton, for the double wedding ceremony. Rev. Robert P. Donovan officiated at the nuptial mass.

Mrs. John Favre, Sublette, was organist and Roland Full, Amboy, was vocalist. Selections included "Ave Maria"; "Pans Angelicus" at communion time and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother" as the bride placed a bouquet of white gladioli on the Blessed Mother's altar.

Wears Fingertip Veil
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown styled with an illusion nylon net neckline, long pointed sleeves, buttons down the back and a long satin train. Her nylon net fingertip length veil was fashioned with lace. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and two white orchids.

Miss Jane Morrissey, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a pastel green rayon taffeta dress and green ivy in her hair. Her arm bouquet was of pink tea roses.

Mrs. Patricia Donaldson, Rockford and Miss Lucella Morrissey, Amboy, the bride's sisters, were bridesmaids. They were dressed identically to the maid of honor and also carried pink tea roses.

James Donaldson, Chicago, was best man and the ushers were Wayne Donaldson, Rockford and Bill Morrissey, Amboy, brother of the bride. The men of the wedding party were in white summer formal attire.

Cousin Is Flower Girl
Lyn Bauer, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a pastel green gown like the one worn by the other attendants. She carried a basket from which she dropped rose petals in the path of the bride. Richie Sharpenter, cousin of the bride, as ring bearer, wore a white suit. He carried the rings on a white satin sweetheart pillow edged in lace.

For the wedding the bride's mother wore a dusty rose silk crepe dress with brown accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore white accessories with her rose nylon sheer dress. They both wore a white orchid corsage.

Dinner at Loveland

A dinner was served at the Loveland Community House, Dixon, for 150 guests following the ceremony. Mrs. Earl Kennedy, Amboy, cut the wedding cake and Mrs. Lois Bennett, Evanston, was in charge of the guest book. When the newlyweds left on a two weeks honeymoon to Northern Michigan, the bride was wearing a champagne colored silk dress with green accessories. They will reside in Chicago.

A graduate of Amboy Township high school, the bride is employed by the A. C. Nielsen Co., Chicago. A graduate of Seneca high school, Chicago, the bridegroom attended Northwestern university for two years. Out of town guests at the wedding were from Rockford, Aurora, Evanston, Chicago, Oak Park, Sublette and Maytown, Ill., and Michigan and Wisconsin.

Many-Pocketed Wallet Has Space for Cosmetics, Cash

BY ALICE HART

The active woman who claims she just can't be bothered with gathering up and carting along her beauty makings every time she leaves the house, is going to have to think up a new excuse for her outdoor dowdiness.

One well-known beauty firm has fixed things so that she automatically grabs her make-up necessities simply by reaching for her wallet. The trick is a new super-compartmented billfold which includes, in addition to the usual pockets for bills and change, space for a mirror, automatic rouge puff, automatic powder puff, and lipstick.

Despite the variety of cosmetics included, the new billfold is remarkably compact. It fits without bulging into the pocket of your slacks, shorts or golf dress, or, if you're carrying a purse, snugly like the good space-saver it is into one small corner.

Although the wallets themselves, which are made of fake pigskin, come in only one shade—red—the make-up is available in three assortments to suit the coloring of blondes, brunettes or redheads.

The MATURE PARENT

Give Yourself Equal Rights
With Your Child

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

More and more of us are beginning to speak out against the discipline principle that says, "Shush, don't speak. You may give your child a neurosis if you try to control his impulses."

About time, too. We were rapidly becoming as repressed and resentful a generation of parents as ever failed to bend twice the way they should grow.

This discipline theory has harmed our relationships with our children by making us class-conscious. It has tried to persuade us that children belong to a specially privileged class. It has stirred resentment in parents by telling them they must absolve youth from the controls that fathers and mothers must exercise upon themselves.

Consider Emmy N., aged five. Shopping with her mother, Emmy is seized with an impulse to get her hands on an expensive paper doll set in a store window. As Emmy is a member of the privileged class of childhood, her mother reluctantly buys the set. While her child skips triumphantly along beside her, Mrs. N. thinks: "Children are lucky. I could keep my nose pressed to the window of the Bonton Dress Shop for six months—but nobody would put that pretty little $49.95 number in my hands."

That evening Mrs. N. is irritable and out of sorts with her family. Whether she knows it or not, Mrs. N. is suffering from the ancient plague of class hostility. She does not relish her role as a member of parenthood's underprivileged class. She is envious of the favors granted to the overprivileged class to which her child belongs.

SOUND RECIPE FOR MAKING CHILDREN YOUR FRIENDS

Given the fact of Mrs. N.'s normal human nature, it is unrealistic to expect her to feel close and near to Emmy. Mrs. N. belongs to an exploited group; Emmy to the exploiting one.

But were Mrs. N. to levy the controls upon her daughter that she puts upon herself—crash would go class hostility. Emmy and her mother would be equals.

With class resentment out of the way, Mrs. N. would say "No" to the expensive paper doll set. But with a rush of understanding, Mrs. N. would add, "Maybe we could manage to buy it next week. Anyway, I have a fashion book at home with a bride in it. And if you're careful with them, I'll lend you my scissors to cut her out."

But no, Mrs. N. doesn't do it that way. The tradition of deference to the lordly class of children is too much for her. So Emmy gets her doll set—and is denied the warm and understanding companionship that grows between two people when each pulls his own weight in the boat.

Equal rights for you with your children is a sound recipe for making them your friends.

When lesser cars look for mechanics-- your Packard is just broken in!

As the mileage indicator climbs to the higher brackets, most car owners do one of two things. Either trade in their cars, or spend plenty on overhaul.

But not you!

When that chunk of mileage has rolled under your wheels, chances are your Packard is still rolling along as sweetly, as steadily as the day you took title. That's a pretty light-hearted feeling to have these days.

For an important example of what we mean, take an inside look at a Packard Thunderbolt engine. You probably already know it's the highest compression eight in America. But what you may not know is that there are up to 25% fewer working parts than in engines of comparable power!

Simplicity of design, plus traditional Packard precision engineering and workmanship, have won for Packard the greatest durability record in motordom. (Fact: of all Packards built in the last 52 years, over 50% are still in service!)

Spellmans Plan To Pay Debts, Court Is Told

FREEPORT—Francis Spellman, Rochelle grain dealer who is charged with three federal criminal counts, and James Spellman, partners in the bankrupt Spellman Feed and Grain company, Rochelle, have asked the Federal District court to approve an arrangement to pay off creditors.

The petition filed by the Spellmans Tuesday asks that the court approve payment of $48,671 in liabilities through a series of six notes. Each note would cover 16 2/3% of the total bills.

Francis Spellman has been released under $2,000 bond under three counts of embezzlement, conversion of federal property and lying to a federal agency. A hearing on the charges will be held before U. S. Commissioner James K. Cavanaugh.

Assets listed by the Spellman firm in the petition were $115,478.84 including motor vehicles valued at $50,154. Other assets are machinery fixtures and tools, $792.45; real estate, $7,500, and stock in trade $6,802.49.

Liabilities include secured claims of $32,565.58 held by banking firms and trucking firms, $2,100 owed to governmental agencies and $14,006.13 in unsecured claims held mainly in the Rochelle area.

According to the petition the notes would fall due 3, 5, 7, 9, 11 and 13 months after approval is given by the court.

The petition filed yesterday is different from that filed last week by Francis Spellman asking for voluntary bankruptcy. In the petition filed last week, Spellman listed $250,000 for grain stored in bins which was owned by the government among liabilities.

According to reports, Spellman is now trying to get the 10 trucks of his firm back into operation.

Say Democrat Chief Boyle Got $8,000 After Firm's RFC Loan

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—The Post-Dispatch said today it had learned William M. Boyle, Jr., chairman of the Democratic National committee, was paid $8,000 by a printing firm here after it received a $565,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The newspaper, in a story by Theodore C. Link, said payments to Boyle from the American Litho-fold Corp., began in 1949 soon after an RFC loan to it had been approved.

The Post-Dispatch also reported that the firm's transactions with former collector of internal revenue James P. Finnegan are being investigated by a federal grand jury here.

The newspaper reported that Boyle received payments of $500 a month and that payments of $1,000 a month also were made to Finnegan, a close friend of Boyle's.

The Post-Dispatch said Boyle, in his office in Washington, told it he had received "some legal fees" from American Lithofold but added that his work had "nothing to do with RFC loans."

Finnegan resigned only recently as collector of revenue for the eastern half of Missouri. The grand jury began investigating his affairs after Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware charged that Finnegan used his office to promote personal business.

Lone Survivor Of Murder Try, Clings to Life

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Tiny Linda Sue Conley clung to life today, the sole survivor of her father's violent assault on his three infant children.

Doctors hoped the three-month-old girl would escape the fate that befell her two brothers when Raymond W. Conley, 39, tried in a fit of rage Monday to kill all three.

William Emery Conley, 18-months old, died instantly then from a throat slash. Last night, death claimed the second of the children, Wilson Lee, aged three, whom Conley shot in the stomach.

Linda was cut about the throat during the assault.

Conley, a shipping clerk estranged from his wife, told police he assaulted the youngsters after he was forced to stay home from work to tend them. A baby-sitter, scheduled to arrive, never did.

Conley is charged with murder and yesterday was ordered held for grand jury action after a preliminary hearing.

Pastor Wins GOP Nod for Philly Mayor

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Daniel A. Poling was chosen Republican candidate for mayor of Philadelphia today, but his easy victory was less of a surprise in the Pennsylvania primary than the apparent nomination by Democrats of Michael A. Musmanno for the state supreme court.

Fighting a lone-wolf battle against the Democratic organization, the 55-year-old Musmanno, judge at the war crimes trial at Nuernberg, appeared to have upset Justice Grover C. Lader, 65, who had the backing of nearly all the state's Democratic leaders.

FBI Investigates 'Confession' of 3 In Negro Slaying

INDIANOLA, Miss., (AP)—The FBI is conducting a preliminary investigation of a report by the sheriff here that three Negroes were forced to admit a Negro slaying which apparently never occurred.

Sheriff George Marshall of Sunflower county said one of his deputies and a private detective probably used a leather strap. One of the Negroes was beaten so badly that he required medical attention, the sheriff said.

The FBI said in Washington that it will report its findings for consideration of the Justice department's civil rights division.

Marshall explained that "it happened without my knowledge, sanction, approval or consent. I am going to do everything I can to make amends."

The sheriff said he planned no action against the two white men involved, Deputy Sheriff C. H. Sheffield and Private Detective Charles R. Underwood of Cleveland, Miss., formerly of Memphis, Tenn.

The victims were Jesse Davis, Jesse James and Amos C. Redmond. The missing man was listed as Robert McKinney.

McKinney's mother reported him missing last week. Davis, James and Redmond were picked up for questioning. Sheriff Marshall said that "after some heat probably had been applied," one of them said the trio killed McKinney with a brick and threw his body into the Sunflower river. Officers started dragging the river, the sheriff reported, but the next morning McKinney's mother received a letter from her son in East St. Louis.

Support Plan To Deprive Him of Pay

Democrats Claim They Can Beat GOP in Showdown

WASHINGTON—(AP)—At a sharply split party meeting a majority of house Republicans agreed today to support a plan aimed at striking Secretary of State Acheson off the federal payroll.

The decision to pursue the "get Acheson" drive through the medium of the state department appropriation bill was taken by a standing vote of 71 to 33.

More than 90 Republicans either did not attend or refrained from voting.

The majority approved a motion to support an amendment to the state department money bill.

Once Represented Poland

Party leaders said the amendment, still to be drafted, would not designate Acheson by name but would specify that no federal pay could go to any "policy-making" department head who, at any time during the five years preceding appointment, belonged to a business or law firm that represented a foreign government.

Acheson's law firm once represented Poland.

A previous plan to ban any official was discarded on the grounds that it would hit many more men than Acheson.

The decision of the GOP conference is not binding on the members. Individuals still can vote the way they feel.

But refusal of so many of them to support the amendment made it doubtful that the "get Acheson" drive would succeed unless it gained heavy Democratic support.

Demo. Confident

Democratic leaders were confident they could beat it.

"If the Republicans want to get rid of Acheson," one top Democrat who wouldn't permit use of his name said, "why don't they try to impeach him?"

Democrats point out that in the past, efforts to knock individuals off the federal payroll by withholding appropriations for salaries have been held invalid by the courts. The courts have held such actions by congress are bills of attainder—legislative acts to deprive individuals of civil rights without judicial process. The constitution forbids bills of attainder.

Fields 'Sugar Daddy' of Far East Institute

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Frederick Vanderbilt Field, leftist New York York millionaire, was described as a one time "sugar daddy" for the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR) at senate hearings today.

Edward C. Carter of New York, a trustee of the IPR, used the term in relating that Field's contributions to the institute totaled "around $60,000."

Carter testified at public hearings by the senate internal security committee which Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) said have the aim of determining whether "subversive influences" have affected United States Far Eastern policy.

Field, "angel" of many left-wing causes, is now under jail sentence in New York for contempt of court.

McCarran said the inquiry was concerned with "the extent to which subversive influences may have influenced or sought to influence the formulation and execution of our Far Eastern policy."

"We begin these hearings making no charges. We propose to let the evidence precede our conclusions."

McCarran also cautioned against jumping to any conclusions about persons whose names may crop up in the investigation.

Lee County Contour Farming Seen From Above

Husband-Hunting Divorcee Marries Long-Time Friend

VICKSBURG, Mich.—(AP)—Mrs. Jean Gregory, the husband-hunting divorcee, passed up 200 proposals to accept that of her truck-driving, long-time boy friend, Lewis Klein of Three Rivers, Mich.

They were married yesterday at Angola, Ind., by Justice Harvey E. Shoup.

Mrs. Klein, then Mrs. Gregory, walked into a newspaper office a couple of weeks ago, accompanied by her three children, and announced: "I need a husband."

She was unable, she said, to care for her brood and a cancer-stricken mother, and promised "to make a good wife" for anyone able to support the family and pay her mother's hospital bills.

Proposals poured in by mail and telephone. She gave three of them the once-over at meetings Saturday, but they didn't suit her. A Wyoming trapper was among the volunteers. So was a mail carrier.

Mrs. Klein said she thought it would take "about $100 a week" to meet her requirements, but said it didn't make any difference how old he is if he can take care of my mother and family."

Klein, a driver for the Kalamazoo Valley Trucking company, is 33. His wife is 27. Friends said they had been going together for some time.

Welfare authorities said they were taking care of current medical bills for Mrs. Klein's mother, Mrs. Amanda Farrow, 61, and would pay for any needed operation. But Mrs. Klein said past medical bills had stacked up to more than $150.

She said she couldn't take a job, because she would have to hire a baby-sitter and, besides authorities would deduct whatever she made from the $114 a month she receives from the fund for Aid to Dependent Children.

British Bomber In 3,358-Mile Hop Over Pole

FAIRBANKS, ALASKA, (AP)—Ten crewmen of a British bomber stretched their air legs today after a casual hop over the top of the world from Iceland to Fairbanks.

It took the four-engined Avro bomber 18 hours and 54 minutes to go over the North Pole to Fairbanks from the takeoff point at Keflavik, Iceland, a 3,558-mile jaunt.

"It was a beautiful day at the North Pole" and a "jolly good flight," Wing Cmdr. R. T. Frogley commented briskly after arriving here through "typical English weather" in an instrument landing at 9:54 a.m. (1:54 p.m. CST) yesterday.

Tomorrow at 8 a.m. (noon CST) they plan to fly the plane the 4,123 miles back to Manby, England. The return flight will be via the Polar regions, but not necessarily over the Pole again, Frogley said.

He called the trip merely a training flight and passed over questions on whether it had military significance.

North Dakota Farmer Named Ambassador

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman today nominated Thomas E. Whelan, a North Dakota farmer and business man, as ambassador to Nicaragua.

At the same time Truman nominated Capus Wayne, now ambassador to Nicaragua, to be ambassador to Colombia.

Both nominations must be confirmed by the senate.

Willard L. Beaulac, the last ambassador to Colombia, recently was nominated to be ambassador to Cuba.

Whelan is a prominent Republican of North Dakota and was backed for the nomination by that state's two Republican senators. He was a Republican candidate for the U. S. senate in 1940.

Republican Congressmen Snipe Away at 'Voice of America'

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, (AP) — This week the House votes on money for the state department, which includes money for its "Voice of America."

The Republicans, banging away at the state department and Secretary Acheson for years, have made a special target of the "Voice."

They're not talking of abolishing it. They want to cut down the money for it. They say they don't like the way it's run.

Further, they don't like the people running it. They call them nincompoops and fuzzy-minded, not unusual phrases in attacks on the state department.

Information and Propaganda
The "Voice" is part of the department's information and propaganda program intended to win friends and influence people abroad.

The "Voice" broadcasts daily in 45 languages around the world providing news, features and comments on world affairs.

The state department also maintains libraries abroad, distributes films in what countries it can, and sends out nightly 10,000 words of world news by wireless to 160 American missions abroad.

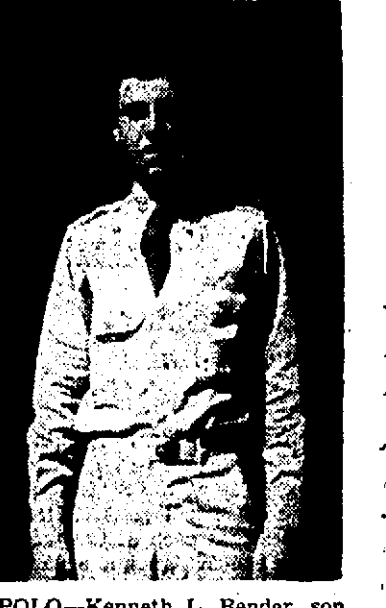

The libraries, films and news bulletins are practically useless in reaching people in the Communist countries. Being seen using them would be dangerous if not fatal.

Through the Curtain
So the "Voice" broadcasts through the Iron Curtain are this country's best hope of getting some information, news and American propaganda to the people living under Communism.

Still, no one can say how effective the "Voice" is in reaching those people. All you can ever get is guesses for the obvious reason that the state department can't take a radio audience poll in Communist countries.

For one thing, the Russians put a lot of effort into jamming the "Voice" to keep the people behind the Curtain from hearing. And in Russia it is estimated that there are only 5,000,000 receiving sets.

Other Players Involved in Basketball Scandal

Near-Eastern School May Be Exposed

Bradley List May Grow as Officials Quiz More Players

PEORIA, (AP)—The college basketball betting scandal that has smeared New York and this cage-proud town today was expected to spread to a near Eastern school.

Even as authorities sought to swell the list of five Bradley university bribe-taking players in a $5,500 payoff it was reported that New York District Attorney Frank Hogan was prepared to drag a school between here and New York into the mushrooming cage scandal.

Vincent A. G. O'Connor, assistant New York district attorney, disclosed that the vicious activities of gamblers had touched another unsuspected hinterland school.

No Name Hinted

O'Connor, who has been assisting in unearthing the surprising bribery at Bradley, one of the nation's top cage schools the past two years, declined to reveal the next school under suspicion.

"Just let us say that our investigation of the New York scandal led one team of investigators to this public eye within a day or two."

Meanwhile, five members of Bradley university basketball team were in technical custody for accepting bribes from gamblers.

They were All-American Gene Melchiorre, 23; William Mann, 21; Aaron Preece, 21; Charles (Bud) Grover, 22; and Jim Kelley, 21, who still has another year of competition at Bradley. The other four are out of school.

2 More Remain

O'Connor said that two more Bradley players remain to be questioned, but it was believed neither was seriously implicated in the Bradley "fixers" which involved Bradley's 67-59 win over Washington State college, and Bradley's 77-74 triumph over Oregon State last Dec. 7. The "fix" was on a point-spread basis.

At New York, it was announced Nicholas (The Greek) Englis, and his brother, Anthony, both of Brooklyn were under arrest for conspiring to fix two Bradley games. One involved a Bradley vs. Bowling Green (Ohio) game at Madison Square Garden in New York in the 1948-49 season, and a Bradley vs. St. Joseph game at Philadelphia in 1950. Neither game was under fire in the investigation here.

Seek 3rd Man

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan who announced in New York the arrest of the two Englis brothers, also said an alarm was put out for a third man. He was identified by police as Jack West, alias "Zip," 39. Hogan's office said West was wanted on charges of bribery in connection with the case.

In connection with the Bradley-St. Joseph game, Coach Fordy Anderson of Bradley said that contest was the only one that might have aroused suspicion in his mind about his team being off the beam.

"I had a call from a Philadelphia newspaperman saying that something might be wrong in our game with St. Joseph," Anderson recalled.

Talked to Players

"St. Joseph ran up a 21-3 score and I ordered a time-out. I talked to the players and asked if any had a phone call, or if anything was fishy. The kids seemed serious enough about the game, and we won 64-60. I didn't hear anything more about the game, so I forgot about it."

According to Peoria County State's Attorney Michael A. Shore, Melchiorre, Mann and Grover received $500 each for the Washington State game. Grover was paid although he did not play because of a sprained ankle.

In the Oregon State game, Melchiorre received $2,000; Preece $1,000; Kelly $500 and the remaining $500 was between Mann and Grover.

Gamblers visited Peoria to make the deal on the Oregon State game. The payoff was made in Chicago, two days after the game, when Bradley was in Chicago to play De Paul.

Melchiorre Ruse

Melchiorre, officials said, acted as the go-between man in both paid-off contests, and received the money on a downtown Peoria street for the Washington game.

Coach Anderson was distraught after the disclosure his players were involved in the bribery.

"It's just a bombshell in our laps," said Anderson. "Who's to blame, we don't know. Maybe it's just the philosophy that seems to be prevailing in this country that a dollar is easy to get."

"I know in my time, a bribe offer would have got the guy offering it a punch in the nose. Maybe things are different now. I still think there must have been tremendous mental torture affecting those kids. I don't think those lads are bad boys, and I want the full story before I criticize them."

Shore said the case would be turned over to grand jury investigation as soon as his probing was complete.

'FIXERS' MADE BRADLEY GREAT

School Reached Cage Heights in Last Four Years

PEORIA, (AP)—The Bradley university basketball players involved in college basketball's latest fix scandal helped bring the Peoria school its greatest glory.

Bradley leaped into the nation's athletic limelight during the post-World War II years with winning basketball teams that became a byword of sports excellence.

Gene "Squeaky" Melchiorre, Bill Mann, Bud Grover and Aaron Preece—four whose names figured so ignominiously in yesterday's bribe-taking revelations—provided much of the muscle that shoved the Braves into basketball's top drawer.

All Veteran Players

All had played four years for Bradley—the four years that gained the school its greatest respect in collegiate sports circles. A fifth player who admitted taking a bribe from gamblers was Jim Kelly, a junior center, who had been expected to carry much of the load in next year's games.

Bradley, founded as Bradley Institute of Technology in 1897, has an enrollment now of about 3,500 students. It has been a member of the Missouri Valley conference since 1948.

Bradley's basketball team, traveling throughout the nation and, in recent years, feared for its prowess, brought the college publicity that other activities, including mediocre football teams, could not provide.

Basketball Pays

Art Bergstrom, Bradley athletic director, said recently, "Basketball definitely pays our freight. We lost money in football."

Bradley teams hit their peak in the regime of Coach Forrest (Fordy) Anderson, who succeeded the late A. J. Robertson in 1948. During his three years as head coach, Anderson's Braves won 91 games and lost 19 against teams that always included the country's best.

The Braves' best season was in 1949-50. It was then they reached the finals of both the National Collegiate and the New York Invitational tournaments. In both meets, Bradley was beaten for the championship by City College of New York, one of four New York schools whose players succumbed to the lure of bribe money and plunged college sports into one of its blackest moments.

Top Team in 1950

At the end of the 1949-50 season, Associated Press members sports writers and sports casters picked Bradley as the nation's top college team.

The 1949-50 team was sparked by guard Melchiorre, whose following here was almost fanatical, and by Paul Unruh, center named to the AP's All-America. Mann, Grover and Preece also were members of the team.

The 1949-50 team won 32 and lost five games.

This last season, it was the beloved "Squeaky"—a fiery, colorful little go-getter—who led the Braves to another outstanding year.

Dazzling Dribbler

Melchiorre, 23-year-old army veteran, is small as basketball players go—5-8½ and 172 pounds—but was fast and strong and a dazzling dribbler. He often played the center's pivot spot—against giant opponents—because of his all-around ability.

Mann, although outshone slightly by Melchiorre, was considered by many as this last season's really great star. An excellent team man and a dead shot—he sank almost half his shots from the floor—he was a "money" player who came through when it counted.

Preece and Grover were firebrands who not only got a good share of the team's points but fed the ball to the others in Bradley's fast floor game. Preece, with Melchiorre, was the team's "spirit guy" and led the team in free throws.

Bradley's 1950-51 team won 32 games and lost six, including tournament games. Melchiorre led season scoring with 337 points.

The school ignored the big time tournaments last spring and held its own invitational meet, which Syracuse won.

University officials said at the time the New York scandals were in the country's headlines that the Bradley tourney was designed to bring basketball "back to the campus." They said meets like the one Bradley held—away from the big sports centers such as Madison Square Garden in New York—would help save basketball from further scandals.

HARD TO BELIEVE: BRADLEY PREXY

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP)—"I am finding it very hard to believe," was the comment yesterday by Pres. David Blair Owen of Bradley university in connection with the bribes taken by five Bradley basketball players.

"If the long arm of the big city gambler can reach out to prey on these youngsters who have received national prominence, I am convinced it could happen any-

Gene Melchiorre

Bill Mann

Aaron Preece

Charles Grover

Fordy Anderson, Bradley university basketball coach, spoke at the Polo high school athletic banquet on April 6. At that time, the Eastern basketball "fix" scandal was the most talked-about thing in sports.

YESTERDAY FIVE of Anderson's own Bradley basketball players confessed to taking bribes to control the "point spread" on certain basketball games.

Among other things, Anderson commented on the basketball fix situation while speaking in Polo. We covered his speech and wrote that he asked his audience "that the bribed players not be judged too harshly." He was speaking about the bribed players from the East, of course.

We continue to quote, verbatim, from the remarks Anderson made that night in Polo:

"MOST OF THOSE boys never had the advantages your sons have here in Polo. In New York, the boys don't have room to spread out. Most of them have only half an alley to play in."

"The trouble boils down to the fact... A punch in the nose."

TODAY ANDERSON is a sadder but wiser man. Sure, it sounds like second guessing to quote a man's remarks after they have been fixed upon him. But it is the mistaken philosophy illustrated by Anderson's words above and by the Midwest in general that could pave the way for more scandals.

Largely, the basketball world west of New York has taken an holler-than-thou attitude, an "it can't happen here" attitude about the basketball fixes. This was well illustrated by the Bradley Invitational tourney held in Peoria this spring, designed "to bring the game back to the campus."

What wasn't explained along with this "back to the campus" stuff pushed by Bradley was the fact that Bradley itself is situated in metropolitan Peoria, a city of more than 100,000 and a city that never has enjoyed the most savory reputation as far as lofty moral standards are concerned.

BUT AT THE RISK of repeating an earlier preaching from this corner, we shall say again that the real cure for this "fix" business does not lie in bringing the game back to the campus. This merely helps erase part of the setting where fixes happen the easiest.

Once again we say that only those who have faced temptation and have resisted can truly call themselves pure. The complete cure for this "fix" business can only come when the game itself again means something to the player, when his reply to a bribe offer comes from the heart.

IN FACT, Anderson himself has the answer in one of the adjoining columns in an AP story in which he says, "I know in my time a bribe offer would have got the guy offering it a punch in the nose."

Such an answer would truly be from the heart.

where," Owen told a reporter. Owen, who is vacationing here, said he was "more convinced than ever that we should play our college games under conditions where these boys will not be subjected to the influences of these vicious gamblers."

Lindquists in Last-Inning Softball Win

OREGON — Dixon's Lindquist softball team had to come from behind to defeat Stillman Valley here Tuesday, 11 to 9.

At one time the Dixon team trailed 7 to 0. That was in the first inning after Stillman had chased Dixon starter Harvey Van Oosten from the mound before the side was retired.

Van Oosten gave up six walks, two hits and five runs before he was replaced by Powers.

Dixon finally gained the runs necessary to win in the last of the seventh inning when a pair of walks and two errors won the game.

Both the tying and winning runs were allowed to score on an error by the Stillman left-fielder after two men were out.

straight victory and their 28th in 37 games at the Stadium. The victory also was the Yanks' 12th straight over the Indians in New York.

Raschi Stops Tribe

Vic Raschi pitched an eight-hitter to post his 14th victory for the Yanks. Gene Woodling and Johnny Mize smashed home runs off Early Wynn to account for all of the Yanks' scoring.

Raschi, who got better as he went along, fanned 10 including Larry Doby and Luke Easter in the ninth to end the game with the tying and winning runs on base.

Wynn and Raschi duled on even terms until the fourth when the Indians loaded the bases with two out. Ray Boone bunted and Raschi flipped the ball to catcher Yogi Berra. Bob Avila, racing in from third, crashed into Berra and knocked him flat on his back. Before Raschi could retrieve the ball, Luke Easter also scored.

Mize Settles Issue

The Yanks tied it in the sixth. Gil McDougald bunted and was safe at first, a play hotly disputed by the Indians. Woodling followed with a poke into the rightfield seats. Wynn retired the first two Yanks in the eighth but fell behind, 3-0 to Mize. Mize fouled off two pitches and then whacked his game winning homer into the rightfield stands.

Leo Kiely, rookie left-hander, up from Louisville, restricted the ailing White Sox to four hits as he turned in his second victory without a loss for the Red Sox. Kiely blanked Chicago until the eighth

Elks, Roberts, Mellott's Win Amvet Games

Two games of the daily three-game schedule were played Tuesday in Amvet Junior league baseball. The third game was forfeited because of corn detasseling.

In the first game, the Elks club poured it on Dixon Recreation to the tune of 21 to 8. Hal Roberts won the second contest, 11 to 4, over Terminal Pontiac.

The third game, a Major league affair, was forfeited to Mellott's when Barrick Cattle failed to field a team. Most of the players are working in the corn fields detasseling corn.

The Red Sox, who now have won 31 and dropped 10 at Fenway park, salted the game away in the first inning when they scored five runs against Howie Judson and Harry Dorish on three hits and five bases on balls. Ted Williams pounded out his 19th homer in the second and Kieley singled with the bases loaded in the seventh to drive home Boston's final two runs.

Marlin Stuart turned in his second straight six-hit victory as the Tigers nipped the Senators. Stuart lost his shutout when Clyde Klutz singled home Sam Mele from second base with two out in the ninth.

Roy Campanella highlighted the Dodgers' victory over the Cubs. Campy socked a three-run homer to feature a four-run tenth inning rally. The blow was his 16th and came off Paul Minner. Gil Hodges sent the game into overtime for the Dodgers with his 29th homer in the eighth.

Fading Chisox Fall in Boston

But Red Sox, Yanks Still On Sprees

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox, so-so performers on the road, once again are strutting like peacocks before the home folks.

Both the Yanks and Red Sox, virtually tied for the lead, emerged with flying colors in the first brush with the contending Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox in the nip and tuck American league pennant race yesterday.

The Yanks, topping the Red Sox by three percentage points, opened a 19-game home stand by turning back the Indians, 3-2. The loss dumped the Indians out of a second place tie with the Red Sox into third place, one game behind the Yanks.

Bosox Win Easily

Boston launched a 21-game home stand by thrashing the slipping Chicago White Sox, 8-3. The defeat dropped the fourth place White Sox 3½ games back of New York.

In the remaining American league game the Detroit Tigers nipped the Washington Senators, 2-1.

Brooklyn, meanwhile, stayed 8½ games in front in the National league. The Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs, 6-3, in ten innings.

The runner-up New York Giants edged the Pittsburgh Pirate, 4-3, in ten innings, while the Boston Braves downed the Cincinnati Reds, 6-1, and the St. Louis Cardinals trimmed the Philadelphia Phils, 9-5.

Flood Heads South, Loses Damage Force

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., (AP) —The devastating midwestern flood headed for the south today, but minus the punch that caused an estimated $1,000,000,000 damages in Kansas and Missouri.

The Mississippi river registered 41.8 feet here yesterday noon and is was still at that point several hours later. The predicted crest was 41.9 for sometime last night but the next official reading was to be made at 8 a. m. (CST) today.

Army engineers and weather bureau officials don't expect further damage as the flood crest heads for the Gulf of Mexico. High, strong levees keep the river in check the rest of the way.

The officials said it would take a double-barreled blow from both the Upper Mississippi and the Ohio rivers to bring trouble and the Ohio is below flood stage.

Many storekeepers continued to operate here, using pumps and sandbags to keep the water down. Clerks waded around in boots serving customers.

Total damages here were estimated at $1,000,000, much of it in wages lost by 1,500 factory workers when water surrounded their plants.

The fight to keep the power plant in operation appeared successful. Water was on three sides of the building but was held back by sandbags. The plant serves Cape Girardeau and several nearby towns.

Former Premier Asked to Form French Cabinet

See No Oil Rationing

WASHINGTON, (AP) — There is little likelihood that oil products will have to be rationed this winter, Al Frame of the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) said yesterday.

Frame, assistant deputy director of the agency, told an industry group "there will be tightness in fuel oil but for all other petroleum products I can't see where there will be any rationing."

U. S. Church Membership Rises To 85 Million, Survey Shows

NEW YORK, (AP) — Church membership in the United States rose to 85,705,280 in 1950, a record making 55.9 per cent of the population.

The total membership was up 2,950,987 over the previous year.

The figures were reported last night in an annual survey compiled by the Christian Herald magazine.

These counts for the major faiths were listed:

Protestant membership rose 1,409,045 to a total of 50,083,868, an increase of 2.89 per cent over the previous year.

Roman Catholics increased 859,784 to a total of 28,470,092, up 3.1 per cent.

Jewish congregations, on which there were no new statistics, remained listed at 5,000,000.

The magazine, which makes the only comprehensive, regular survey of church membership in the United States, said "the major faiths continue in about the same proportion to each other."

"Protestants are still well in the lead, with 58.5 per cent of all church members," the report said.

"Roman Catholics claim 33.2 per cent of the total, while Jewish congregations account for 5.8 per cent." The remaining 2.5 per cent is split among various other groups.

Church membership rose to an all-time record of 55.9 per cent of the nation's population as membership in various faiths increased 3.56 per cent last year while the population grew only 1.67 per cent.

Persons not belonging to any church now make up 44.1 per cent of the population. Fifty years ago, the percentage of non-members was 65.3.

The Methodist church still is the largest Protestant denomination. Its membership rose 143,078 to a total of 8,935,647. Its membership gain was the second highest.

Corn Reaches Tassel Stage In Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, (AP)—Nearly a fourth of Illinois' corn crop has started to tassel and earlier plantings have begun to silk, the weather bureau and state-federal agriculture departments said yesterday.

Corn is averaging four and one half feet in height and is better than average in condition "with sturdy stalks and excellent color."

Some of the crop was damaged or destroyed by flood. But most of it is satisfactorily past the cultivation stage. Seed corn detasseling has started in nearly all areas.

Soybeans too are nearly through with cultivation. They have a "good yield outlook" except for some water damage. About two-fifths have started to bloom.

Dillinger's Mouthpiece Is Pardoned

CHICAGO, (AP) — A former Chicago city prosecutor who served a prison term for harboring a member of the ill-famed John Dillinger gang, has been pardoned by President Truman, it was learned yesterday.

He is Louis Piquett, now 67. Piquett was convicted in May, 1936, of harboring Homer Van Meter.

Piquett served a year and nine months of a two year sentence and was released from Leavenworth penitentiary on Jan. 10, 1938. He also was fined $10,000.

The presidential pardon—made in February—restores him to all rights as a citizen.

His pardon was made known when he petitioned the Illinois supreme court for reinstatement to practice law. The high court referred the application to the Chicago Bar Association for investigation and a report.

Piquett was convicted of being present when Dillinger and Van Meter underwent medical operations to change their facial appearance.

He contended he was Dillinger's lawyer and that he could not tell on Van Meter without betraying his client, Dillinger.

Million Copies Of New Bible To Be Published

NEW YORK, (AP)—There will be nearly 1,000,000 copies in the first printing of the revised standard version of the Bible.

Figures on the printing, described as the biggest undertaking in book publishing history, were given last night by William R. McCulley, president of Thomas Nelson and Sons, publishers of the revised Bible.

The revised Bible, scheduled for distribution in September, 1952, is the product of 14 years' work by 31 scholars.

The 1,344-page Bible, if stacked in a single pile, would tower 24 miles in the air, McCulley said.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police Force was organized in 1873 as the North West Mounted Police. The name was changed in 1901.

NEW "LEG"—Taskiki Takaesa of Toharue, Okinawa, who lost her leg and her mother during a World War II bombing raid, gratefully accepts a new crutch from M/Sgt. Samuel McLaren of Tampa, Fla., to replace the uncomfortable home-made one she had been using. The sergeant, a member of the 307th Bomb Wing of the 20th Air Force stationed on the island, discovered the girl's plight while touring the village. He and other airmen made the steel crutch at their outfit's sheet metal shop during their spare time.

Contino Goes to Jail on Charge Of Draft Evasion

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP) — Accordionist Dick Contino, who got "panic claustrophobia" on 28,600-acre Fort Ord, Calif., spent last night in a county jail cell.

Contino, at 21 a $4,000 a week entertainer, entered a surprise plea of guilty at his draft evasion trial yesterday. He told Federal Judge Michael J. Roche, he is now ready to go into the army.

"I know I can be a good soldier—a very good soldier," he said.

Instead, the judge sent Contino to jail to await sentence Aug. 7.

"Ever since this started I've felt like a lousy heel," Contino told the jurist.

"This" started in April. One day later, Contino reported at Fort Ord. He quickly passed an army psychiatric test. Next day, he fled in his convertible. Arrested weeks later, he explained his flight:

"Everything was behind a fence. It made me sick all over."

Opposing Contino's jailing—the youth had been free on $5,000 bond—his psychiatrist, Dr. Percy P. Polnak, told the court:

"I hate to think what will happen to a person of this type. He may go completely to pieces."

Governor Sets Veto Record With No. 89

SPRINGFIELD, (AP)—Governor Stevenson hung up a record last night by vetoing a bill to set up a legislative commission on highways.

It was the 89th bill approved by the 1951 general assembly that Stevenson nullified with his veto pen.

The highest number of measures passed by a single assembly ever disapproved by a previous Illinois chief executive was 88 by former Governor Green in 1941.

The assembly this year topped all earlier marks for passing bills. Stevenson disapproved the $10,000 commission, he said, because it would duplicate the work laid out for the $25,000 motor vehicles laws commission, which he okayed.

The governor signed into law bills which:

Lower from 20 to 19 the minimum age for obtaining a school teacher or supervisor certificate.

Allow court action against unlicensed beauty culturists.

Legalize breakdown of coal in mines by mechanical or chemical-mechanical means without spark or flame.

Remove authority of school township trustees over consolidation and boundary changes of school districts, effective July 1, 1952.

Senate Judiciary Committee to Consider Judge Nominations

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) gained some headway today in a fight against two Chicago federal judge nominations made by President Truman.

But chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) said the judiciary committee will "proceed in the usual way" to consider the controversial appointments, despite results of an unusual poll of Northern Illinois lawyers by the State Bar association.

The poll seemed more favorable to Douglas' candidates than to the president's selections.

Asked Recommendation McCarran denied to a reporter he had asked the Illinois bar to make any such poll. He said he merely had requested the state bar's recommendation on the appointments, along with those of the American Bar association.

"When we get the American bar recommendations, I will post a notice of a public hearing for a week hence," McCarran said. "At that hearing, anyone who wants to can testify about the nominees. That is the usual procedure and it will be followed."

McCarran said that so far as the committee is concerned, it has no interest in the fact that Douglas had recommended William H. King Jr., and Benjamin P. Epstein for appointments the president gave to Cornelius J. Harrington and of Epstein compared with Drucker. The results haven't been announced.

The president and Douglas agreed on a third appointment, which went to Joseph Sam Perry. The Senator has said the men Mr. Truman named are capable but that he regards his choices as better ones.

The state bar polled its Northern Illinois members on all five men, asking for votes on the question of whether they were qualified to be a federal district judge. King led the list with 2,562 favorable and 159 "no" votes, while Harrington had 2,085 favorable and 561 adverse votes.

Drucker, a municipal police judge, was the only one who got more "no" than "yes" votes. The count for him was 594 favorable and 1,948 adverse.

Epstein, Douglas' choice for the post that went to Drucker, got 2,415 favorable and 354 adverse votes. Perry's count was 2,106 favorable and 334 adverse.

Strong Point Douglas thus had a strong talk-
